

Philosophy Amidst Nature

As a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Miner, you might choose to walk or ride in the peaceful and contemplative forested acreage of the farm. Along the miles of wooded roads you might encounter deer or elk, rabbit or fox, gently flowing streams or groves of birch. Along these scenic curving paths, there were numerous boulders with large plaques attached. You and other passersby could pause and reflect upon the bits of wisdom or expressions of gratitude for nature's beauty and bounty that were contained in the poems chosen for the plaques. All such adages clearly reflected the philosophy of the Miners in their homage to God and nature, as well as the value of work and diligence.

Thank God every morning that you have something to do.
Being forced to work, and do your best.
Will breed in you Temperance,
Self-control.
Diligence. Strength of Will, Content and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know.
