

Dr. Philip C. Walker Memorial Botanical Trail

Trail Exhibits

- 1 Poison Ivy
- 2 Succession
- 3 Panicked & Red Osier
Dogwood
- 4 Common Reed
- 5 Northern Red Oak
- 6 Northern White Cedar
- 7 Northern Mature Forest
- 8 Forest Decay
- 9 American Yew
- 10 White Pine Flagging
- 11 Eastern Red Cedar
- 12 Cedar Apple Rust
- 13 Shagbark Hickory

— Walker Memorial Trail
Length: One Mile
- - - Trails — Paved Road

B. November 26, 1911, D. July 7, 1991

Dr. Philip C. Walker was a botanist and field biologist who spent his life inspiring several generations of students with his boundless enthusiasm for the natural world. Point Au Roche had a special place in his repertoire of wild stomping grounds. If he were here today at the head of this trail, your hike with Phil Walker would take a near eternity for he would stop every second or so to show you a universe under your feet or above your head in just one yard of trail. He was a man who was happiest out of doors in nature's perfect studio and would be delighted that you have come to explore the park and enjoy its beauty.